Will Kath's, mail clerk, son of our old friend, F. Kath's, of Pilot Knob, was in that horrible wreck near Newport, Arkansas, last Saturday morning. Fortunately, though, he escaped injury. Will has been in five wrecks the past year or so, but has had the good fortune not to be badly hurt in any of them.

The drill which was at work on Geo. Reeves' place, on Marble Creek, for several weeks, was last week moved to N. Allier's farm, probably half a mile away. One hole about four hundred feet deep was drilled on the Reeves' place. There is no way of ascertaining what the drill revealed.

Louis Miller, of Arcadia, has, we understand, secured a ninety-nine-year lease from the railroad company on the Arcadia Hotel lots in Arcadia. For the present, we understand, Mr. Miller will use the property as a park in connection with the Arcadia Hotel. Later he may build a big summer hotel thereon.

Mr. S. A. Orr of Marble Creek Tuesday brought to this office a large rattlesnake that was killed by his boys last week. The snake is almost five feet long and has twelve rattles and a button. In arranging for the interment of Mr. Jaquith in the Masonic cemetery, last Sunday, it was necessary to remove the remains of an infant that had been interred in 1862. In making the removal the case and the casket were found to be in a perfect state of preservation. The forty-three years that had passed since the interment had not brought about any material decay.

The statements made by members of another church that Fred. Hempleman, who is circulating a petition to have a saloon in Arcadia, is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church in Ironton, is false. We have searched the record back to 1872 and find that his name has never been on our record. He is not, and never has been, a member of this church.

T. G. PETERSON, Pastor.
No. 5, the south-bound passenger train at night, which passes here at 11:30, was wrecked at Diaz, a couple of miles north of Newport, Arkansas, about five o'clock Saturday morning. The wreck was occasioned by an open switch and the train was running fifty miles an hour when the accident occurred. The engineer and fireman were instantly killed and several passengers badly hurt. A number of the coaches were completely destroyed.

Dallas, Texas, has been visited by severe rain storms, streets flooded and the lower stories of warehouses under water. Last Sunday evening, while waiting for a street car in that city, Edwin Keach stepped into the entry of the Presbyterian church to be sheltered from the rain. There came a blinding flash of lightning, a roar of thunder and shingles flew into the street. The church tower had been struck and was on fire. Running to the nearest fire-box, one block away, he turned on the alarm, and in a few minutes the fire engines had arrived and put out the fire. The extent of the loss to the church is not yet known.

A. McKenzie, of Madison, Ill., was a pleasant caller at our sanctum yesterday afternoon. Mr. McKenzie was born and raised in Iron county on the old McKenzie place on the Sabula road. He taught for several years in this and Iron counties and went from here to Madison, Ill., where he has a responsible position in a large steel plant. He and his wife, formerly Miss Virgie Parrish of Wayne county, are visiting Mr. McKenzie's mother at Lesterville.—Centerville Reformer.

Those blamed cowbells, those loud cowbells, How many a tale their music tells

Of rations small
In owner's stall;
Of frequent raid
On garden made;

While cuss-words vehement and deep
From citizens roused from their sleep

At early morn
The air adorn,
Like specks upon over-ripe fruit,
Or novice's dissonant toot,

As loud and louder swells,
The music of those bells!

With a clang and a clang,
With a whing and a whang,
Rings the bell of the cow!

Each nip of the grass at her feet,
Each step as she paces the street—
The quick circling switch of her apron tail,
The toss of her head—

Arouses such echoes they hardly can fail
To waken the dead!

Those bleat cow-bells, the dear cow bells!
How stark a tale their music tells
Of scanty feed,
Of hungry greed,

And picked-up feasts in grassy dells!

The dear old cow, the sweet cow-bell,
We love them more than we can tell,
When kept afar within green pastures,
But close at hand when we would sleep,
They stir our gall both wide and deep,
And then we bless their stinging masters!

L. M. Henson, circuit clerk and the murderer of S. H. Adams and Wm. Heck on Ten Mile creek on April 14th, was by the court Tuesday removed as circuit clerk. The suspension will become operative and take effect on August 14th, at which time his cases are set for trial. The suspension provides that he can not act in the capacity of circuit clerk so long as his cases are pending, and he will be compelled to turn the matter over to some other person on that day.

Several days ago Henson filed a motion to have the court appoint some one to act as special deputy to have charge of the papers in the cases where he is charged with murdering the two above named men, but Judge Sheppard very wisely overruled the motion Tuesday and suspended him from acting as circuit clerk at all after August 14th. Henson's attorneys have notified Judge Sheppard that they would apply to the supreme court for a writ of prohibition to prohibit Judge Sheppard from appointing a clerk to take the place of Henson. That means that the supreme court will have to pass upon the legality as to whether a clerk can be appointed.—Poplar Bluff Citizen.

Sheriff O'Bannon, of Madison county, and J. F. Gilmore, of Rolla, Mo., arrived here from Fredericktown Tuesday morning, on the lookout for Dr. G. W. Temple, a veterinarian, who recently spent several weeks in this city. Gilmore stated that Temple was wanted at his old home in Rolla, Mo., for having taken a mortgaged horse out of the county. He also stated that the woman who was with Temple when he was here, and whom he represented to be his wife, was not his wife at all, but the wife of a saloon man in Rolla, and that Temple had deserted his own wife and three children for the woman with whom he was traveling. Temple, he said, left Rolla about twelve months ago with the mortgaged horse, and ever since then the woman, and ever since then the owner of the mortgage had been trying to get up with him. But about the time he located his man he would move again. Temple first arrived in Ironton about six weeks ago from Fredericktown. He spent about a month here and then returned to Fredericktown. He drove through here last Sunday with the woman, however, and when Sheriff O'Bannon arrived here he was apprised of that fact. Telephone communication was then had with Bellevue and Temple and the woman were located there. O'Bannon and Gilmore immediately proceeded to Bellevue, where they caught Temple. He immediately threw up his hands and admitted everything. He restored the mortgaged horse and borrowed horse to Gilmore and gave to Sheriff O'Bannon a horse he had belonging to Ed. Lanpher of Fredericktown. Temple also admitted that he had deserted his wife and children for the woman he had with him. He said he was repentant and was going to return to his wife and ask forgiveness. As Temple readily gave up the mortgaged horse and there was no charge made against him, he and the woman were allowed to depart. They went to Bismarck, where they boarded a train for the north.
